

Song of Freedom

lyrics by roli

music by goodron

Growin' up in a little town
Going out dancing to the sound
You met your girl you're married with
In this pub down Nelson Street

Now she's left alone at home
They must have a heart of stone

The kids are asking everyday
They miss their daddy he is far away

Now they're left alone at home
They called you up and now you're gone

I sing you a song, a song for you, a song of freedom
They took your rights, they said your wrong, they took your freedom
It's just a song, some simple words, my song of freedom
I hope you can hear, I hope it won't hurt when I'm singing my song
My song of freedom

The TV's on no news of her son
You're mum is praying for you to come home

Far away you're all alone
Here's some hope tomorrow will come

I sing you a song, a song for you, a song of freedom
They took your rights, they said your wrong, they took your freedom
It's just a song, some simple words, a song of freedom
I hope you can hear, I hope it won't hurt when I'm singing my song
My song of freedom

These simple words may give you hope, tomorrow will come soon
We'll take you home, we sing for you
May your dreams still be coming true

We sing for you, your family, we sing for love
We sing for peace, we have a dream of a better world
