

Thank You

lyrics by roli

music by goodron

Do you remember the first beer you drunk
The first girl you kissed and the first heart you broke

Do you remember the first bike you rode
The first night not alone and the first trip on your own

Do you remember the first word you said
The first walk on your own and the first toy you had

And you learned a thousand words a year
You knew someone is always near

I remember the first guitar I played
The first song I wrote and the first gig I made

I remember the first job in life
The first book I read and the first band I've seen live

And I learned more than words can say
I will learn more everyday

Now you know how to walk and I know how to play
And you know how to talk but do we know how to say

Thank you